THE HOME TOWNERS
THE GREEN LIGHTS ARE ON IN McKINNEY AND COLLIN COUNTY

▶ AN OPEN LETTER to Senator Ray Roberts and Representative J. A. Benton Representing Collin County:

Dear Ray and Capt.:

These Editors have talked to a lot of your homefolks in McKiney and Collin County relative to House Bill 20, which is the Trinity River Authority, and if it goes through will tax your homefolks to the sum of nearly $30,000.00 a year. We don't mind paying taxes because we are all for progress but what a lot of your home folks can't understand why Collin County is included, and also why we can't "vote as Local Option" on the Bill, which, in our way of thinking, is the "American Way," and you know we have got a lot of good old Americans that are your homefolks. As the Bill now stands Collin County doesn't have a chance to express its sentiments. If we vote against being in the District, Your "FRIENDS" in Dallas in and Tarrant County will outvote the whole District, and what does that mean? We will help pay for the future prosperity of Dallas and Ft. Worth. All we ask is a fair deal Ray, you and Capt. for the people of Collin County. And here Ray, you and Capt. is an article appearing in a Dallas Newspaper today:

"Take any county in the valley. Take Ellis County next to the South of us, for example. Ferris and Palmer, both of which are within short trucking distance of the river, will find a new market for their brick and new access to that market by barge, for the chain of elongated lakes will attract industrial plants to industrial water served by navigation. And all these installations will need brick.

"Waxahachie and Ennis will be able to ship in raw materials and ship out finished products from their industries. Italy, Milford, Midlothian, Maypearl, Forreston, Bardwell, Red Oak—every village, town or city will feel the effect of water freight rates on the necessities of life. Cotton will be worth $1 a bale more, small grains 8 to 10 cents more a bushel. Cars and tractors will cost $10 to $50 less

"Beyond all this, Ellis County, with 15 miles of improved waterfront on the Trinity Waterway, is certain to draw a number of big manufacturing plants. An Ellis County will double its present population within ten years after the canal is completed is no wild guess. It is almost a certainty.

"The wonderful thing about the Trinity Waterway is that it offers great benefits for everybody along the river course. What will happen in Ellis County will happen in greater or less degree from Fort Worth to the sea. And the growth of each county will help all the rest. No good can come to Ellis County or Tarrant County or Polk or Chambers County without benefiting Dallas County in some measure, too."

Ray and Capt. not ONE WORD was said where your Collin County will benefit. But we expect some of the high paid boys will be up in your County of Collin telling the folks that we will benefit by it. Give us a chance to vote a LOCAL OPTION ELECTION. If your folks in Collin County vote to go in, then we will abide by their decision and if we vote to stay out then WE ARE OUT—but please give us the AMERICAN WAY, Ray, you and Capt.

Your Home Towners

▶ YOUR HOME Towners would like to congratulate all committee's that worked to make "Public School Week" a huge success. It would be very difficult to single out one or two persons because it was a job well done by every one connected. It really makes parents appreciate the many problems that our teachers are confronted with in the education of our children when we get first-hand information regarding school activities.

McKinney has always boasted of fine schools, ably operated and we look to the future for futher advancement in our school system. A town is no better than its school system and McKinney must always maintain the finest. Your Home Towners will always co-operate along this line.

▶ PLANS ARE shaping up for "Firemans Appreciation Day" to be held sometime early next month. We have received numerous calls offering support.

Chief Walter Cockrell, of The McKinney Fire Department stated to Your Home Towners that a meeting will be held Monday by the Department and a day set for the affair. Pres. George Webb of The Junior Chamber of Commerce and his bunch of human dynamos have agreed to be in on the deal, so when these young men are a art of a program —will be done bigger and better, that's the way the Jaycees do things.

▶ WE HAVE written Representative J. A. Benton to send us some information regarding a bill that will come up in the legislature on the "Trinity Improvement Program." We understand that Collin County will be in on the deal and it will mean additional taxes. We stand ready for more taxes —PROVIDED THAT COLLIN COUNTY WILL GAIN — but likewise we are not for a new tax of any kind unless we will benefit by it.

His appointment came through Jess Stratton Clinton, president of the national school boards and a member of the president's committee. General purpose of the committee is to assist, upon invitation, in planning conferences in various states and territories, and to help organize the White House conference for education which will be held in Washington, D. # Parents Visit Pfc. Jane Doe At WAC Training Center

(Editor's Note: The item below is the tenth in a series of articles offering information about the new WAC Center at Fort McClellan, Alabama; the types of train-in gavailable to members of the WAC, and experiences of the Jane Doe of our series, or any young WAC. Parents will find the answers to many of their questions in these articles.'

X. PARENTS VISIT PFC. DOE AT WAC CENTER.

Shortly before Private First Class Jane Doe was scheduled to graduate from the WAC Clerical Procedures and Typing Course—and after many letters to her parents in which she wrote in glowing terms of the facilities and beauties of the new WAC Center—Mr. and Mrs. Doe one morning boarded an airliner for Anniston, Alabama. In the warmth of that afternoon's sun, they arrived at Fort McClellan and were met by their enthusiastic daughter, who immediately launched them on an impatient tour of the campus-like government reservation. Pfc. Doe watched, with pride, their pleased reactions to the sight of rolling hills, tree-shaded lawns, soft, cream-colored buildings, the grass-covered parade ground and paved streets and sidewalks.

Mr. and Mrs. Doe then called upon Jane's chaplain, and it was with pleasure that they learned that all WACs are encouraged to attend the church of their religious choice. They visited the Post Chapels and viewed the facilities arranged for Protestant, Catholic and Jewish services. The Chaplain also gave them many sidelights on the various opportunities women have to take part in their church's activities, just as they did at home.

In their tour of the hospital area, the medical care program was carefully explained, and it was gratifying to Mr. and Mrs. Doe (as it would be to the parents of all servicewomen) to be assured that the health of each WAC is carefully guarded. A physical training program is designed to keep them in the best possible physical condition and regular physical examinations by Army Doctors have proved their value as the "ounce of prevention." A special dispensary is available to the WACs, and the well-equipped and well-staffed hospital on the Post provides any additional medical, dental and optical care which might be necessary.

The next day, a chat with the Special Service Section gave them this insight into the Recreation Program at the Center: In the off-duty hours the WACs have a wide choice among the various amusement facilities at Fort McClellan.

Through the Center Special Services, sightseeing trips are arranged and tickets may be obtained for concerts, the opera, and sports events in adjacent cities.

The modernly furnished barracks each have a large company dayroom (lounge) and a reception room where the trainees and students may meet their dates on the first floor.The Center has its own theater, swimming pool sports tournaments, and Service Club. The Club, with its large ballroom, cafeteria, snack bar, music and TV rooms, and well-equipped Hobby Shop, is a most popular place for informal relaxation and fun to rthe Army men and women.

A community's shopping center is duplicated at the Post Exchange where all services usually found in a suburban center are available. It is here where the WAC Beauty Shop, dry cleaning establishment, laundry and shoe repair shops are handily located.

Mr. and Mrs. Doe encountered many young women who had reported to the Center for refresher training, uniform issue and other necessary procedures leading to assignment, because training was indicated in their cases. Most of these women were former WACs who had re-enlisted following a number of years out of the service, and it was felt necessary to re-acquaint them with many of the Army's procedures.

They also visited and talked with instructors of the Non-Commissioned Officer's Course. Nndoubtedly Private First Class Jane Doe would someday attend this course, and they were all interested to learn its functions. It was explained that the NCO Course is not a school course, but one designed solely to fill the need for trained basic-training personnel. Projected to last five weeks, the Course approaches subject matter from the practical point of things a platoon sergeant must know and do. The instruction during the Course is practical and realistic, utilizing the theories of exercises and application of what the Course teaches.

Mrs. John Gastrock is chairman of registration and urges McKinney ladies to register as early as possible, in order that the visiting delegates may be registered more quickly. This early registration will also be of assistance to Mrs. Roy Caldwell, menu chairman, in planning for the various meals which will be served during the convention.

Each visitor will be presented with a gift packet which will contain souvenirs donated by McKinney business people. Mrs. Eva Deur, who has charge of this committee, asks that merchants who have any small article such as thimbles, pencils, pads, match holders, emory board,s sample of cosmetics etc. to please contact her as soon as possible.

Principal John W. Fenet presented the guest speaker, Mayor R. F. Newsome, who spoke on the theme for the month, "We The People, Promote The General Welfare." The address was informative and challenging. Rev. M. L. Bailey expressed appreciation on behalf of the P-TA to Mayor Newsome for his contribution.

A rising vote of thanks was given by the P-TA members for the important part Mayor Newsome played in helping to supply the school campus with play ground equipment sufficient for all children, and for appearing on program in the meeting.

Indoor games amounting to $5.00 were presented to the 5th grade. Shirley Jean White, president, and Patricia Ann Berry, vice president, received the games. Their teacher, Miss C. D. Young, was standing by with smiles.

A check of $5.00 was presented to Paul Holley, president of the 10th grade, fo rthe purpose of purchasing in-door games for the 10th grade. Standing with Paul was his teacher A. A. Malvern, and a class mate, Herbert C. Fininen.

During the business period, Mrs. Juanita Fininen, Mrs. George Howell, Mrs. Dorothy Wattley, and Mrs. Ruth Kirkum were appointed to serve on the cake and coffee committee for open house Thursday during Public School Week, with Leonard Wattley, and Jimmie D. Kirkum, who were appointed in a previous meeting.

A nominating committee was elected composed of Mrs. Ruth Doty, Mrs. Lola Malvern, and Mrs. George Howell. It was reported that the last payment has been made on the public address system. The next meeting "Dad Night Meeting" will be April 12, 8:00 p.m. in Fenet Auditorium. Prof. James A. Redmond will be the guest speaker.

School Scenes Elicit Praise In Store Windows

"Safety" is emphasized in a clever and most effective way in the school exhibit in Wilson's Shoe Store, this week. This is another phase of the Public School Week activities being held in McKinney this week.

The Safety Exhibit was arranged by the J. W. Webb (East) Ward School in which a miniature replica of the East Ward School is shown, as well as the school bus, streets, miniature houses, etc. Over the center of the typical street scene, hangs a traffic signal, with traffic officers placed at strategic points along the thoroughfare. Several posters boldly printed in words of warning, as well as others showing causes and preventions for accidents — in the home as well as on the streets — are prominently displayed. This exhibit is being admired not only for its arrangement, but for the benefits it offers as a precaution for safety.

The Fanny Finch (South) Ward School stresses "Citizenship" in the display found at the McKinney Dry Goods Company. A miniature living room scene, with the doll family reveals the fact that "Citizenship begins at home"; second, from the school scene showing the little red school house and children in the yard. It is again revealed in "Education," and another fact shows we find it through attendance at Church, as revealed in the miniture church where the wording "In God We Trust" is displayed.

The colors of our country are used to dress the dolls and models found in the window, with red, white and blue garments. Another section of the exhibit emphasizes good manners — "speak softly, be neat, wash hands, return Thanks, chew food properly."

The South window of Coffee Drug, on the East Side of the Square, is creating more than usual interest. Pictures of graduating classes from McKinney High School for several years back, are on display, as well as groups of MHS football teams. Many pictures of classes in some of McKinney's first schools, and other early day school scenes are eliciting their share of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tucker, of Cottage Hill, had as their guests recent Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marks of Clovis, New Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Tucker and family, Sue, Mary and Johnny, Mrs. Frances Rutherford, and son, William, all of Irving; Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Robinson and children, Beverly, Johnny and Carolyn, and Frank Perkins, all of Plano; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Powers and son, Edwin, of McKinney and Mrs. Claude Duvall.

MAGGIE McKENZIE, popular radio star of KGNC says, "Every woman knows light Karo is best for cooking ... and on the table ...

it's Karo for me, the best-tasting waffle syrup of 'em all"

Yes, indeed ... biscuits go like hot cakes when you pour on plenty of delicious Karo waffle syrup. There's nothing like it for good eating. Satisfyin' flavor. So rich it stands right up on top of biscuits (keeps 'em light and fluffy). Keep Karo on your table morning, noon and night ... it tops anything!

Ask your grocer for Karo waffle syrup, in pints and quarts

Celina Trims Allstars 57 To 50 Thursday Night

Frankie Biggs then added two free throws to make the score read 27 to 25 in favor of the Stars, but their last lead for the night quickly vanished as Jack Hughes sank a quick field goal and a free throw to give Celina the lead which they never lost.

In the final period with 2:25 left on the scoreboard, the Churchmen pulled within five points (49 to 44) of the fast breaking Celina five, but were never able to gain any ground as both teams matched point for point.

All school districts of the county have completed their scholastic census enumeration, and their reports have been complied by the County Superintendent's Office and sent to the Texas Education Agency in Austin.

The report reflected a total of 8,979 school children in Collin County between the ages of 6 and 17 inclusive, which is an overall gain over last year's enumeration of 341, including 288 white and 53 colored scholastics. This year's report shows a total of 7883 white children and 1096 colored children in Collin County.

In the Common School and Rural High School Districts there was a loss of 82 white children and a gain of 56 colored children, but in the Independent School Districts there was a gain of 370 white children and a loss of 3 colored children.

The increase in the Independent School District came from McKinney, Plano and Wylie. The loss in the Common and Rural High Schools is further evidence of the decrease in rural population.

Scout Exposition Opens Friday At City Coliseum

Everything is in readiness for the annual North Star District Exposition of Scouting, to be held in the McKinney Coliseum on Market Square, Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19. All Cub Packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer post, in the district, have been invited to participate and urged to enter a booth on the various achievements in cub scouting and Merit badge subjects, and Explorer rating.

A list of subjects were sent to each unit to select the subject they wished to demonstrate or exhibit. To date the Camping and activities committee has received answers from some twenty-seven units in regards to subjects they will enter and will be entered in the show.

You will have a chance to see boys in action and what the leaders have instructed them in. The object of this annual District Exposition or show is to have well informed boys in action meeting the public. This builds in the boy a sense of responsibility and in the public an acquaintance of the Scouting program that will result in better parent Cooperation and public good will in general.

Remember this, that boy-made equipment used in a demonstration is more effective than factory-made and action is better than a lifeless exhibit.

When visitors step in front of each booth there will be a Scout to answer your questions and be prepared to give you an attractive descriptive presentation of the most interesting phases of his entire subject.

In other words his booth is a little stage show all by itself and he will give many repeat performances.

What you will see in each booth is a clean uniform, combed hair and a shiny face, these really make a good show.

Won't you plan now to attend all shows (there will be 3 shows) if possible. Show your pack, troop or post that you are back of them and see where your money to scouting goes. Won't you please be with us.

PAUL K. WILSON, Chairman
Camping and Activity committee
North Star District Boy Scouts of America.

HILLOW-CONE TYPE SPRAY NOZZLE GIVES BEST CONTROL OF INSECTS IN 3 YEAR TEST

Hollow-Cone type spray nozzle gives best control of insects in 3 years tests

The hollow - cone type spray nozzle is superior to those which give a flat fanshaped spray pattern for cotton insect control, tests indicate.

This finding emerged from thee-year tests at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station designed to determine the best type and nozzel arragenemt for cotton bollworm and boll weevil control.

Hollow-cone type nozzles gave better control of insects and subsequent higher cotton yields.

Throughout the studies, sprayed plots yielded approximately half a bale more cotton an acre than untreated plots.

One hollow-cone type nozzle placed directly above the row gave yields equal to those where two and thre hollow-cone nozzles were placed at the top and sides of the drill rows.

Complete results of the 1952-54 studies are given in Progress Report 1752, which is available from the Agricultural Information office, College Stateion, Texas.

SMALL GRAIN INSECTS

If you have small grain mite or greenbugs there is a good possibility that these two insects will quit working with warm days that we are having. If they do not and control measures are nceessary, then use one pint of the 25 per cent emulsion Parathins per acre in the amount of water that you that your sprayer put out per acre.

If you have aphids on your barley or alfalfa and it will be 21 days before harvest of the alfalfa, the use the parathoin as given above for control of this insect.

Use every caution in handling parathion as it is dangerous to humans and animals. Then do not walk in the field treated with the material for thee days following application.

HOME ACCIDENTS FATALITIES GREATEST WITH OLDER PERSONS

"Over 65" is considered a dangerous driving speed. But, asks the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee, has "over 65" ever been considered as a dangerous age from the standing point of farm and home accidents?

Figures released by the National Safety Council to the Texas Committee show that 29,000 deaths in 1953 resulted from home accidents, and 15,700 of these were to men and women over 65. Here is why, says the committee, that special attention should be given to the older group in any safety program involving the home. Figures show that some 12½ million persons or about 8 percent of our total population are in the over-65 age group and the number is increasing.

A closer look at the 1953 Safety Council report shows that falls accounted for 12,600 of the home accident deaths of older people in 1953. Eliminate the hazards, says the Texas Committee which can cause home accidents and remember that older folks do not always see, hear nor coordinate as well as younger people. They offer these suggestions. Put grab-bars in bathtubs; avoid the use of small throwrugs; do not wax floors highly; be sure all stairs and halls are well-lighted and contain no boxes, toys and other items over which to stumble; put secure handrails beside all stairs; keep sidewalks and steps around the house in good repair and clear of obstructions and use night lights in bedrooms, halls, and bathrooms.

Fire prevention is especially important since 1,400 persons over 65 died from burns or injuries from fires in 1953. Just don't forget the older folks, cautions the Safety Committee, in your home and community safety program for they too love life.

FARM MANAGEMENT

BY SAM MANN
Associate County Agent

GREEN BUG BREAKOUT

Small grain farmers in Collin County have a new enemy to contend with now: Greenbugs. Although the outbreak is small and spotty at this time, close observation and controls should begun if the pests become too heavily concentrated on a field of small grain. Spot treaments can be accomplished with a small two or three gallon sprayer.

Greenbugs are wingless, greenish colored plant lice which attack wheat, and occasionally other small grains. Damage occurs generally in February and March. Infestation occurring after March. In usually kept in check by natural enemies.

The insects fed on the stems and leaves at temperatures above 50 degree F., but migrate to the crown during lower temperatures for protection. Control should be initiated during period when the grenbugs are on stems and leaves.

CONTROL

Two materials, parathoin and TEPP wil give adequate control when used properly. Parathoin may be used either in the dust from or as sprays made for emulisifiable concentrated. Applications may be made either from airplanes or by ground equipment. Livestock should not be allowed to graze on parathion-treated fields for ten of fourteen days after treatment. One percent parathion dust applied at a rate of 20 pounds per acre or 15 pounds of one and one-half percent dust per acre gives good control if wind velcities do not exceed five miles per hour.

Parathion spray applied by airplane should contain 1½ pints of 16 per cent emulsion or one pint of 25 per cent emulsion in two gallons of water per acre. The same amount of emulsion in eight to fifteen gallons of water per acre shoulld be used with ground equipment.

PRECAUTIONS

Parathion and tepp are highly poisonous to man and animals. Only those persons who are willshould handle these materials. ing to follow directions rigidly

LIVESTOCK BLOT

Lush green pastures and fields spell out the necessity for continued observation of livestock grazing on these pastures by Collin County farmers and ranchers. Bloat is very prevelant at this time of the year.

Bloat is excessive accumulation of gas in the paunch of cattle or sheep. This gas is being formed continually in this compartment of the stomach from the digestion of feed by the actions of bacteria and yeast. However, under certain conditions this gas is not belched up as fast as it is former, and bloat occur.

A few of the most common causes of bloat in Collin County are caused by grazing livestck on legume fields or lush pastures, overreating, grazing on plates containing toxic materials and rapid change of feeds.

Mild causes of blot may be handled successfully by witholding all feed for a few hours and forcing the animal to exercise. Some relief may be expected by tying a round stick in the animal's mouth that will stimulate it to chew and encourage belching. In more severe cases animals should be kept on their feet and forced to stand on an incline with the foreparts higher than the hindparts. Gently kneading of the area over the paunch is beneficial.

A drench containing methyldisilican may be given to a bloated animals with good results. This drench medical treatment medicine can be obtained from your local veterinarian. Most of the common remedies are harmful to the bacterial flora of the paunch that are necessary for normal digestion. Peritonitis invariably follow puncture of the stomach wall by persons not trained in proper methods, therefore, puncturing of a bloated animal is not recommended unless performed as a last resort. Any case of bloat that fails to respond to more conservative treatments listed above, or cases that tend to reoccur, should be examined by a veterinarian.

Eighteen New Farm Plans Approved For Soil Conservation

John Wells reported a stepped up interest in soil conservation work at this time. As Chairman of the Board of Supervisors for the Collin Soil Conservation District, he stated that the Board approved 18 new farm plans at their recent meetings bringing under agreement with the District, 2,781 new acres.

Wells commented that in his personal business which is farming and operating a seed business, there is considerable activity. Spring seed supplies are moving fast and there is an actual shortage of seed corn. This is an indication of the impetus that good weather has given to the farming business.

Worley Smith of McKinney who is serving as clerk-bookkeeper for the Board reported that 1,701 copies of the 1954 annual report of the district were mailed to cooperators and other interested parties. He feels that these have been well received, judging from the response to them that has been coming in.

The Board made plans for Soil Stewardship activities which are to come in preparation for Soil Stewardship Sunday, May 15. Members of the Board expressed hope that all churches of the district would participate and would call on its members, Soil Conservation Service technicians, Extension Service Agents, Vocational Agriculture Teachers and others to help out if needed.

Seen About Town

By CAPT. ROY F. HALL

Redbuds around town are at about their best right now. This is the Judas Tree on which Christ's betrayer is said to have hanged himself. It is of the genus cercis, and is not the European tree, merely resembling it. In my boyhood the redbud was used for stove wood, as it burned best of all wood when green. They grew into big trees in those days in the lowlands. Beautiful, but very fleeting. One of the prettiest in town stands on the lawn of Wallace Hughston, Waddill Street.

Talked to Roy Caplinger Saturday. Roy was reared in old Bois d'Arc community, and has been away 36 years. Lives in Dickens County. He is the son of Andy J. Caplinger, of Collin. Andy and this writer courted girls together.

Several of us were puzzled over a small windmill pumping air into a minnow bucket in Clyde Horn's Electrical Supply store Saturday. We eventually found that a fan situated inside the window was causing the wheel to turn. Cute little dingus. The windmill fastens in a car window, and when the car runs the resulting breeze runs the windmill, aerating the water for the minnows in the bucket inside the car.

Saw Bee Batson at the court house. Bee says he owns no bicycle of any kind; an earth-shaking admission for him to make. He was, some fifty years ago, one of the great bicycle riders and racers of the nation. Said he had been clocked at over a mile a minute in races. Bee said he rode a bike to Dallas last fall and got as far back as Plano, where he had to give up. He said Harry Golden, another great rider of the period, is now in the automobile business in Austin.

Saw Jimmy Foster on the west side Saturday, where he was coaxing little Jimmy II to do something, I could not find out what. The young man evidently had ideas different from those of his father, for he ambled on down the walk, spreading a big smile to all he met. As a polite suggestion from an interested observer, the impression I gained from the attitude of these two gentlemen toward each other is that possibly the sign on market square should read, "Jimmy Foster II & Father."

Man O' man! That schedule at the high school last Thursday night! The kids take all day to go through the different classes, and they made us parents do it in an hour. Up and down stairs; through a maze of halls and rooms. Worth it though. I figured I raised my weight—180—ten times on different stairways, and, counting the number of steps, that totals to about thirty-six thousand pounds in an hour. A fine exhibition though, and a fine corps of teachers we have.

The rain last Sunday morning amounted to about half an inch. It helped wheat and oats, which were showing the effect of dry weather. There is nothing in sight now, but at this season of the year keep your weather eye peeled. Looks like mild, windy days for the week. Look out for a frost though, toward the end of the month. I have never seen an early spring that did not have a killer right when it hurt the most.

Revival Meeting To Begin March 27 At Dunn MemorialChurch

A revival meeting will begin Sunday, March 27, at the Dunn Memorial Church, announces the pastor, Rev. Ross Bourland. The revival will continue a week with services each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Loren White, pastor at Melissa, will do the preaching while the music will be directed by Onie Inman, choir-director and Mrs. Elmer Bomar, pianist.

The Sunday services at Dunn Memorial include Sunday School at 10 a.m. and morning preaching services at 11 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Snider of Spur spent Saturday with the former's sister, Mrs. Frank O'Brien and Mr. O'Brien at Twin Bridges.

Collin Baptists Will Begin Evangelistic Campaign March 27

More than 50 Baptist Churches of Collin County, will participate in the Southern Baptist Convention revival which will start in the Central section March 27. This includes Collin County of which there are 54 churches.

Rev. W. P. Carter, county missionary, is being assisted by Baptists of McKinney and the county in planning this big evangelistic campaign, in which visting ministers will preach at the various churches.

The revival begins March 27 to continue through April 10, and as part of the campaign a radio service will be held each morning from 8:30 to 9 o'clock over Station KMAE, McKinney. Rev. S. D. Lindsey, pastor of the King Memorial Baptist Church, will be in charge of these radio broadcasts in which a different evangelist will speak each day.

In round figures, some 29,500 churches and missions in the Southern Baptist Convention territory will be involved in a mighty effort to see revival in our nation. This is the greatest single effort in the history of Christianity to be used of God to bring revival.

Because of the lack of preachers, the territory has been divided into three two-weeks' periods. The first includes Cuba and all the states from the Atlantic to the Pacific which border on the Gulf of Mexico. The Central Zone and will include all the churches in the central area of our Convention. The third zone will include the Northern part of our Convention and some pioneer states. The revival in Alaska will be April 17-May 1.

Southern Baptists baptized 396,757 in 1954; and during the last five years we have reported baptized, in round figures, 1,900,000 souls.

Among the ministers in the city and county who are planning the campaign are: Dr. Charles Myers, pastor of the First Baptist Church, general chairman of evangelism; Rev. Kenneth Cantrell, pastor of the Anna Baptist Church, in charge of enlistment; Rev. D. A. Grigg, pastor of the Foote Baptist Church, extension chairman; Rev. Cooper Marshall, Prosper pastor, finance chairman; Rev. S. D. Lindsey, radio; Rev. Tommy Watson, pastor of the Waddill Street Baptist Church, Rev. Joel Ortendahl, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, publicity and Rev. B. C. Housewright of Frisco, Census chairman.

Captain Mary Sue Mock To Recruit Women Marines Here

Captain Mary Sue Mock

The 1955 summer session for the Marine Corps Women Officers Training Class will convene on 27 June 1955 at Quantico, Virginia, it was announced today by Captain Mary Sue Mock, Marine Women Officer representative on the Southwest.

The Women Officer Training Program is for college women sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduates, the Captain explained. Regularly enrolled law students are eligible for enrollment and may eter in the final year of law school or after graduation. The 1955 class will be held from June through August.

Entrance into the program is not restricted to college graduates, Captain Mock pointed out. Undergraduates may attend the training program during part of two summer vacations. Young women who have graduated from college attend a continuous twelve-week training session. After the training is completed they receive commissions as Second Lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve and are provided an opportunity to apply for integration into the regular Marine Corps at a later date. Commissions are awarded upon completion of training and after presentation of college degree. Women must be at least 21 and not more than 27 years of age on July 1 of the year in which they are commissioned.

Women Marine Officers are assigned to major Marine Corps posts and stations in the United States: at Marine Corps Headquarters, Washington, D. C.; or in Hawaii. A few serve in Europe.

Undergraduates who are over 18 and under 27 years of age are eligible to apply for the training program. In addition, they must be physically qualified in accordance with Navy Medical standards. They must be single and agree to remain so until the acceptance of a commission.

Women who desire to apply for entrance into the program or who wish further information are invited to contact S-Sgt. John C. Maness, Local Marine Recruiter.

"How to take care of the skin," was the subject of the program presented by Mrs. Alyce Anderson, beautician in Greenville, at a recent meeting of the Burrow Home Demonstration Club held in the home of Mrs. B. W. O'Neal.

The speaker stressed the importance of a perfectly clean skin as "a clean skin is a good skin." She said "to keep the skin clean and in perfect condition, use a good cleanser. Apply cold cream by using an upward motion with rotary movement. Let stand a few minutes and wipe away, using the same motion, then use a good skin freshner applied with cotton. The freshner finished the job of cleaning the skin. The skin is then ready for lubrication. Use a good hormone cream. Never use downward motion in cleansing or applying cosmetics as this stretches the muscles of the face."

Mrs. C. E. Houser, president, presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. The club sent cards to two charter members, Mrs. R. L. Crowell, who is suffering from injuries sustained in a recent fall, and Mrs. H. H. Coleman who has been ill of flu.
